The Gosch story has always been a keystone to my research, unlocking the doo government through publicly recorded scandals with a deadly consistency. I first be story through an interview of Senator John DeCamp by Alex Jones (MP3). When I watched the documentary "Conspiracy of Silence", it was truly a breaking preconceived ideas of what was possible, morally possible, in this world. The events film made at the Bohemian grove gave me nightmares and basically put me in sho black budget, Project Paperclip, Skull and Bones, SRA, the Gehlen Organization, The Dissociative Identity Disorder. The theme that unified them was ritual abuse, forced and exploitation of children (usually male), the systematic use of sexual deviants a tasks, the use of illegal drugs and sex acts for blackmail, complicity and secrecy, a military and national security state personnel.

Considering that the Gosch case had gotten so much attention, and considering th prostitution case had been exposed, and a major republican politicians accused and historic public record that can act as a doorway into the realm of serial killers, Satani the US Government.

When the Jeff Gannon Story broke n 2004, a gay prostitute with a mysterious ba administration, I immediately thought that it made complete sense for Johnny Gosch If one researches mind control, one sees that the victim must be systematically abus to cause the dissociation necessary for creating the "alter" or alternate personality. I have been reading about this case for just a few weeks but it has been so interestin hard to put down. I've read Bonacci's testimony. I was "okay" with the whole story u horrible trauma he went through at Bohemian Grove. No wonder the kid tried to d thought they would have left him there to die, but they took him to the hospital. I believe there are ways of answering these questions, and the first way to seek themselves and the methodology used against them. By having the courage to re through what he'd seen and done, you have taken an important first step on the roa read of other victims experiences, you can see a methodology of what was done to ritual abuse, involvement in crime, and protection from government and religious i stories and accompany them through their traumatic experiences, you have to trust and that can mess with your mind. The experience is traumatic for the researcher, a else could be possible.

I choose to assume that mind control is always intended, it must be applied, impos submissive, but this goes way beyond that. No one would submit to having their bo

What has happened to Bonacci? From what I have read it appears he is doing time ir be dated. What has happened to most of the kids in the "Larry King" system? They a "grown" are they still being used somehow? Have a lot of them turned into felons forced to commit? Are they still afraid to communicate with their families? Have any their lives? Hi Coton, please post where you found this information about the information coming from h That sounds like vague, dismissive disinformation to r

The only published criticism I have seen of Brice Taylor/Sue Ford is in Cathy O'Brie Access Denied. This has been discussed many times before, and you can read the rel http://www.rense.com/general2/phil.htm

Basically, it puts more of a question on the credibility of Cathy O'Brien, rather than Su http://mcawareness.livejournal.com/ page under the "Project Monarch: The Tangl Phillips) - By Martin Cannon 1996" posting.

Other than that, I have not encountered any material that has even attempted to ge Taylor's book. The emotion of the book reads very truthfully, in my opinion. If you re is hard to imagine one not being convinced by her story, although of course it is v societal context. It certainly didn't bring Brice Taylor much in the way of the fam anomalous in its content... that is, it fits into the larger picture of many other books and afterward.

Previous to Thanks For The Memories, Sue Ford wrote "Starshine: One woman's val novel", which was apparently a "dramatic" or novelized retelling of her experiences was a few years before TFTM. I am not familiar with the content of the book, althou for I think $25 (its selling on Amazon.com used for $4

For what its worth, Sue Ford is currently a Neurofeedback practitioner in the Southe money on the touring/speaking circuit for many years. Cathy and Mark, on the other giving $65/person workshops on "mind control deprogramming" while enjoying free thought.

Basically, I would say the worst decision you can make is to simply NOT READ any of there is a disinformation campaign aimed at discrediting her. Based only on that, material a fair look and make up your own mind!

I enjoyed reading Brice's book. Although, I think everyone would agree that for overwhelming. That's why I think it's great to know and understand, but as far as e there's some debate that could take place. It's kinda like someone saying they saw l description of what they saw, but I can't say yes or now because it's based on a pe people tell me they went to heaven and who saw the same thing and I can even list what the person says is true about heaven and I would give them credence. I can re a heaven and it's a wonderful place and there are animals there, etc. and I believe it in the bible. But if they said they walked into a room and everyone was young-lookin after they walked on it, well, it might be that way, but they didn't bring any grass ba they take pictures so that I could see that everyone in heaven was young-looking. exclusively on fact, can I?
